

Virginia Code § 40.1-28.7:9 makes it illegal for employers to discharge or otherwise retaliate against an employee because the employee discussed their wage information to other employees. If an employee believes they have been illegally retaliated against for sharing wage information, they can file a complaint with the Labor and Employment Division, located here.